

The circulation of "New News" is double that of any paper in the State out of the city of Providence. At the office of publication every facility is had for the execution of all kinds of Book & Job Printing with neatness and despatch.

There will be an annual meeting of the "Republican Association," on Thursday evening next, at "Narragansett Hall." It was originally intended to have the meeting last night, but suitable arrangements could not be made, in time.

The Revolution of 1857.

Our Washington correspondent, in a late communication, refers to a report of the judiciary committee of the House of Reps., in which it is averred that the late financial revolution is not properly attributable to the action of the Banks, but rather to rash land and railroad speculations. Upon this statement, our intelligent and generally correct correspondent ventures the remark, that "the real cause of the revolution was the inability and refusal of the Banks to redeem their paper and pay their depositors."

We believe that, on reflection, our friend at the Capital will see that his observation is incorrect, as it is quite certain that the origin of last year's revolution dates too far back for the validity of his position. That the paper currency of the United States, ill-regulated, excessive and redundant as it is, was the great primary and efficient cause of the revolution, is in our view as manifest as the fact that there is such a currency in existence, or that there has been a revolution. And yet it has operated, to some extent, differently from the way in which our correspondent describes it.

The "rash land and railroad speculations" so harshly arraigned by the judiciary committee, were only secondary causes, which had been themselves engendered by the vicious and miserable monetary system of the country. There were many other causes of a similar class, which co-operated to bring about the financial and business crisis of 1857. Excessive importations of foreign goods; the passion for grand and gay dwellings, fast horses, fine dresses, rich furniture, and fashionable entertainments; stock gambling, enormous credits, the construction of non-paying railroads—in short, every variety of fast living and wild and reckless speculation, came in for a share in bringing about the last year's disaster. But the root of them all, or at least the primary and grand driving-wheel of the whole vicious machinery, was sought else but a poorly regulated paper currency which favored parties could mainly wield for their own purposes—which could be indefinitely expanded if occasion required, to whose excessive contraction, wholly optional with the same parties, could be made to work extensive hardship and ruin.

The bank suspension, to which our correspondent imputes the revolution, was but an incident, a circumstance, in the history of the crisis of 1857—not its efficient and exciting cause. Indeed, it was rather an effect than a cause—a very natural consequence of the whole train of evils previously set in motion by a redundant and badly regulated paper currency. The Banks themselves thus became sufferers from their own misdoings, and thence inflicted still further injury upon the community by a refusal to fulfill their engagements. But they have a justification for this—such as it is—in the fact, that the community, who were largely their debtors, had first refused to perform their engagements to the Banks. This is partially true—and the non-fulfillment was on both sides, to no small extent, grounded in positive inability. But it would be a great mistake to suppose that the banking system of the country is to be therefore excoriated from the charge of producing the crisis of 1857.

And what are the people, or the people's representatives, going to do about it—any thing, or nothing? Are we, or are we not, to have learned any practical lesson from the painful experience of the last year? If "a burnt child dreads the fire," it seems as if a great and intelligent nation of free-men might have sense and foresight enough to sift out the causes of such a wide-spread and serious calamity, and make some prompt and efficient defence against its recurrence hereafter.

High Price for Negroes.—The Herndon Press reports the sale of some of the negroes belonging to the estate of Mrs. Dement, of that county in Ga., last week, at the following figures: Girl Amanda, twenty years old, field hand, with infant five weeks old, two thousand four hundred and thirty-seven dollars; boy Jesse, twenty-one years old, field hand, two thousand dollars; girl Tennessee, field hand, twenty years old, one thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars. The sale was on six months time.

Abel Benjamin, of Montague, and several Dry Hill boys, went snake hunting in Irving, Mass., on Friday, and as a result of their day's work, brought home 27 rattlesnakes measuring from a foot to five feet in length each.

Lola Montez the past six weeks has been haunting to crowded houses in the city of New York, and is said to have cleared $6,000.

LOCAL NEWS.

OUR LOCAL DEPARTMENT.—Mr. B. W. Pearce, formerly of the Fall River Daily Star, and more recently of the Biddeford (Me.) Gazette, has become connected with the News as our local reporter. Mr. P. has had considerable experience in reporting local and ship news, and we feel satisfied that he will attend to these matters in a manner which cannot fail to give satisfaction to our readers.

The duties of an editor are so complicated, that we have often been unwillingly compelled to neglect the Home department of our paper, in order to pay the necessary attention to our more imperatively pressing business arrangements.

FOURTH OF JULY.—To-day is the 11th day of June, and we are reminded that it is only about three weeks to the Fourth of July. Yet we hear nothing of any steps being taken towards a suitable celebration in this city, of this anniversary of national independence. Last year the City authorities appropriated the very extravagant sum of seventy-five dollars for that purpose, and thereby excited the wonder of the entire press throughout the Union. We think that this year the sum should be reduced to twenty-four dollars, in consideration of the hard times of last winter. This would pay for ringing the bells, and furnish to each of the City Fathers, besides, a bunch of fire-crackers, a card of gingerbread, and a glass of spruce beer, with which to celebrate the glorious Fourth, which, albeit, must be done on the 5th, as the Fourth comes on Sunday, this year.

BUSINESS REVIVING.—Passing up Thames Street, by the Coddington Cotton Mill, yesterday afternoon, our ears were saluted by the welcome and gladdening sound of machinery. This mill started up about two weeks since, and has nearly all its machinery in operation. It employs, when in full operation, about 160 hands.

The stone mill between the Coddington and Perry Mill, known as "the Old Mill," is having a new boiler house, of brick, erected, into which are being placed two new boilers. A new chimney is also in process of erection for the same, which will be about 65 feet in height when completed. This mill is expected to start in about two weeks, or as soon as the necessary repairs are accomplished.

The mill of the Perry Cotton Manufacturing Company is also undergoing repairs in its boilers, &c., and the chimney is being carried to an additional elevation of some 20 to 30 feet. This mill is expected to start next week.

The summer is upon us, and for the last day or two the thick mists of the Quakers, and their Annual Meeting, has hung over the city at morning and evening, fragrant with odors of seaweed and brine. Speaking of the Friends' Meeting reminds us that the Aquidneck House, having been thoroughly repaired and put in the most excellent order, is open for the reception of guests. The Aquidneck is an old favorite of ours, and we have often spoken of its merits and the hospitality and courtesy of its host. Mr. Rider is invariably gentlemanly and social, and the Clerk of the House, Mr. W. H. Taber, is known to everybody, and is an excellent sample of the good cheer of the establishment.

CHASING A STEAMBOAT.—Yesterday morning, as the steamer Perry had cast off her lines and was leaving the wharf, a stout Irish woman was desecrating the bow of the wharf at full speed for the boat. Away went the boat, and away went Billy, after a bit, gestulating with her hands and making good use of her lungs, for them to "stop the boat sure!" while a wicked boy at the stern was beckoning and shouting to her to "come on!" Reaching the head of the wharf, we expected to see her plango in and swim for it—but with a malediction on the "spalpeens" she turned and retraced her steps up the wharf.

THE STEAMERS.—The summer travel with the boats opens tardily. The passengers from New York average about 12 a day to this place. The New Clifton, from Fall River, has had a very light business this week, thus far. The Perry is doing better, averaging some 75 passengers each way.

It is now three days since the light of the Fall River Daily Beacon came "streaming over the wave" to this office.—What's the matter, brother Tripp? Have you run short of "life?" Send it along, send it along, man; in these days of fog and darkness we need all the light we can get; and in return we will forward you the news from Newport.

OPPOSITION LINE TO NEW YORK.—We understand the steamer Governor will commence running between Providence and New York next Monday, at a reduced fare. And we are told further, that the other four lines to New York are each losing 300 to 400 dollars every day they run. Put this and that together, and the result is a pretty extensive enigma.

CITY OFFICERS.—The following gentlemen were elected to the various city offices at the meeting of the City Government last Tuesday evening:

"KISS ME QUICK!"—Passing the store of Messrs. Hazard & Caswell, 132 Thames street, yesterday, we beheld, in illuminated letters, the words forming the caption of this paragraph. Involuntarily we cast our eyes to the back of the placard, to see where the beauteous damsel with rosy cheeks and pouting lips might be, who so urgently put forth the tempting invitation, determined to do the gallant thing and risk a storm of wrath and indignation at home. On closer inspection, however, we ascertained it to merely denote the name of a new and superior article of perfume and pomade with which these gentlemen are desirous of furnishing the ladies and gentlemen of Newport. Like all other articles sold at their store, we presume it to be of the "first chop." The article will be found advertised in our columns.

We see by the list of officers elected by the City Council, that the election of City Solicitor was passed. We understand that Col. Van Zandt declined being a candidate for re-election and it is the intention of the Council to unite the office with the Mayoralty.

RATHER FAST.—One of the Ferry Boats yesterday afternoon made the passage from Conanicut to this city, a distance of 8 1-2 miles, in fifteen minutes! Fourteen knots an hour! Pretty good for an old clumsy ferry boat.

CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 9th. As the telegraph has probably already informed you, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, here, has been elected by a majority of 571. The Election, under the extensive precautionary measures that had been adopted, passed off in an extremely peaceable and quiet manner. Several jokes, however, were perpetrated at the expense of the authorities. On the evening before the Election, for instance, this report came that a company of pug ugies had chartered a sloop at Baltimore and were coming around by water to participate in the election; that they intended to land here in the night and embark early in the morning, &c. Consequently a large police force was detailed to the wharf to extend to them the hospitalities of the city, but no pug ugies came, and the weary policemen had their midnight vigils in vain. During the day, also, a hasty message came to the Marshal of a terrible riot in a remote part of the city; his mounted troopers galloped furiously to the spot, only to find the utmost peace and quiet prevailing.

A local question has arisen here, as to where the Equestrian Statue of Washington, now being executed by Clark Mills, shall be located. Several different points have been designated by interested and disinterested parties, and a proposition has been introduced into Congress, to leave the matter of location to the President. The artist has also designated a favorite site for the location of his own work. This is the small triangular park on Pennsylvania Avenue, opposite Centre Market, which he selects for its centrality. And we submit whether the selection of a site does not more appropriately belong to the artist than any other man, whether it is not a part of his conception and study. Hence doubt has studied on that subject more thoroughly than any other man has or will. He has probably devoted more hours to the subject than the President could minutes. And who more competent to select a site for the work, than the genius who conceived the work itself? how many facts and circumstances, and associations, would he take into consideration that the artistic mind would never think of. Besides, the honor and interest that would prompt him to execute the most perfect statue, would prompt him to study out the most eligible site for its permanent location.—We say let the artist select the site for his own work. If he is fit to be entrusted with the execution of the statue itself, he is certainly fit to be entrusted with the selection of a site for it.

We have a suggestion to make to Frank Leslie. He has done the country such noble service in the exposure of the swill milk traffic, that we would like to see him turn his attention to still wine and liquors.—While the former is confined, for the most part, to a few of the large cities, the traffic in the latter extends to every town and hamlet in the country, poisoning and crazing the whole nation. Having commenced on the cow stables attached to the distilleries, he might very properly carry the war into the distilleries themselves, exposing the various modes of adulterating and counterfeiting the exhilarating grape juice, and the pure essence of grain. The adulteration of our wines and liquors gives to intemperance more than half of its terror and misery.—The head-quarters of this adulteration is in the city of New York, in the range of Frank Leslie's artists and "detectives," and if he would expose and abolish the monstrous nuisance he would be entitled to the appellation of the Saint Patrick of America.

DIED. In this city, June 9th, Ella Boone, daughter of Stephen A. and Anna S. Ward, aged 4 years and 2 months. Funeral Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from her father's residence, No. 15 Spring St. Relatives and friends are invited to attend without further notice.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON—THE BRITISH OUTRAGES IN THE GULF DISAVOWED BY THE BRITISH ADMIRAL.—PACIFIC DISPATCHES FROM UTAH.

New York, June 10. (Tribune correspondence.) Lord Napier received dispatches yesterday from the commander of the West India Squadron, expressly disavowing having authorized the recent acts of visitation, and explicitly disclaiming having any instructions contemplating such a contingency. He states further that immediately upon being informed of such offensive proceedings, he dispatched the sloop Jasper after the Styx and other cruisers, with orders to bring them in, intending to hold the officers to a strict account. These dispatches were communicated to the President and Cabinet, and produced a feeling of relief. Lord Napier feels satisfied from the intelligence, that his dispatches from England, expected next week, will authorize the fullest explanation. The instructions under which the British squadron is now acting are ten years old.

LEAVENSWORTH, June 8, via. ROOSEVELT, June 9.—General Lane, who was shot in the leg during his recent affray with Mr. Jenkins and party in consequence of which he was confined to his bed, is worse, and lockjaw is apprehended. Amputation of the limb will probably be necessary. The funeral of Mr. Jenkins, who was shot by Lane, was attended by a thousand people.

ing first on the floor to give the carpet a better chance of drying out, then on the stairs and finally on the roof. If, in the process of drying, the carpet becomes soiled with dirt or other matter, this is a sign that the carpet is passing off badly, without any of the protection experienced in the carpeting of Catholicism. It strengthens the system, and it is a sign that it purges it, and will be able to build it up with more and more.
